College Admission Counselor Visits - 2020

College Admission Visits to Fenwick (virtual)

Representatives from numerous colleges and universities will be meeting with Bishop Fenwick juniors and seniors in virtual school visits between September 21 and November 21. These virtual meetings are by appointment only and in small groups for thirty minutes.

Attending these meetings allows juniors the opportunity to be introduced to the many different approaches colleges have to admissions and to connect with a person from the each campus. For seniors this is one more opportunity for them to demonstrate an interest in a college or university and to ask any remaining questions they may have. It is also an opportunity for the college admission representatives to put a face to the name on a college application or correspondence and to get to know Fenwick's curriculum and culture first hand.

This year all college visits will be virtual between the hours of 3:15pm and 8:00pm. This prevents interruptions to our instruction periods and allows students to take advantage of the extra help period beginning after school until 3:00pm. We ask that families keep in mind these visits are designed to be with, and for, the student. Please be respectful of each student's right to privacy in the meeting. If a student's parents or guardian have questions, the student may make an individual appointment by emailing the representative.

Meeting times are updated daily and posted in Naviance. Students need to check their student accounts in Naviance regularly as new visits are posted each time a college representative signs up for a meeting slot. Students may begin signing up now through their student account in Naviance.

To register for a meeting, students need to follow the steps below:

1. Log into student's Naviance account
2. Click on Colleges on the top right hand side of the screen
3. A drop-down menu appears click on the first one - Colleges Home
4. College menu appears and on the bottom right of the page College Visit appears listing all the visits that are scheduled
5. Click on the visit that you would like to attend virtually
6. Register
7. The link will be available at the time of the visit.

After you have registered

Students registered for the meeting must be in the Waiting Room fifteen minutes before the meeting begins. Student's must be prepared and on time for the meeting.

Example: If your appointment is for 3:15pm, you need to be in the Waiting Room at 3:00pm and wait for the representative to let you into the meeting.

- Have questions written down.
- Be prepared to take notes.

- Bishop Fenwick protocol for students attending our virtual classes also applies to college visits:
 - Wear a Bishop Fenwick uniform polo.
 - Be sitting at a desk or in a chair.
 - Your entire face from the collar to your hair is to show on the screen.
 - The background should be free of clutter, signage, pictures etc, Remember that you are online and you wish to leave a lasting impression with the college representative for all the right reasons.
 - You should not be eating, drinking, or chewing gum. In many cases this may be the only chance that a person from a college actually “sees” you – look your best!
- Be sure to get the name of the college representative you are meeting with AND THEIR CONTACT INFORMATION.
- Once the meeting is over, write a thank you immediately. Thank you for college visits may be emailed to the person you met with. A sample of a thank you is below. Please note that the style is formal despite being short.

September 21st, 2020 (be sure to date it for the representative’s reference)

Dear Mr. Smith, (unless the person asked you to call them by their first name)

I enjoyed meeting you today with students from Bishop Fenwick High School. The information you shared with us was most helpful to me as I am looking for a college that is small and in an suburban area. The insight into your liberal arts program and the opportunities for community service were of particular interest to me.

Thank you for meeting with us today. I would like to follow up with you once I review the information you gave us on Wellesley College. I look forward to the next time we meet.

Sincerely,

(you can sign your name here using a different font and it is ok here to use your nick name)

Some tips for making the most of your Common Application Essay/Personal Statement

- Check before you begin writing. Not all colleges require a writing sample.
- The writing sample must be well edited and demonstrate an academic approach to writing.
- Your essay is not really an essay – it does not prove a point or make an argument or even answer a question. It is a personal statement.
- There are basically only two stories: 1) something happened to me; or 2) I happened to something.
- The opening is very important. Make sure it introduces the central character rather than an abstraction.
- SHOW do not TELL. First draft: “My first violin was very inexpensive. Final Draft: “My first violin was made in China and smelled like nail polish”. Include all five senses: see, taste, smell, feel, and hear.
- Be likable to your audience.
- Sound like yourself.
- Colleges have three opportunities to evaluate your writing ability: the essay, the short answer questions on the application, and the SAT essay if you submit your test results. With many colleges being test-optional, and many high schools being pass/fail, the writing sample needs to be reflective.
- Writing about how you embraced an opportunity that the quarantine has given you is a good thing to write about as long as you focus on how it has changed you: changed how you think, changed what is important to you, changed how you do something, or changed your level of appreciation for something or someone.

Scholarship Application Process

Students should be active in pursuing scholarship opportunities throughout the year.

Some colleges automatically consider each applicant for scholarships and notify the student of a scholarship in the acceptance letter. These merit-based scholarships differ from the financial aid received through the FAFSA or CSS Profile because they are based on a student's achievements rather than a family's financial need.

Some colleges require students to fill out a separate application if they wish to be eligible for merit-based scholarships. Students should check the college website or call the Admissions office to find out if any applications are needed for merit-based scholarships at a particular college.

There are also many merit-based scholarships available that a student can use towards tuition and fees at the college of his/her choice. A starting point for finding these scholarships is the Guidance Portal on the Bishop Fenwick webpage. The Guidance Portal features links to scholarship search engines and a list of scholarships currently available. Students should check the scholarship list often- it can change daily! Please note that scholarships are listed according to deadline.

To access the scholarship list:

- Go to the Fenwick website www.fenwick.org
- Click on Academics and select "Guidance".
- Click Guidance Pages, Log into website
- Click Guidance, Guidance Portal
- You will see Guidance Webpage
- Scholarships for 2019-2020 are located on the right side of the page, categorized by Month and Deadlines.

If a scholarship application requires an official transcript and/or letters of recommendation:

- The student must bring a completed Scholarship Transcript Request Form (pink), and a $2.00 transcript processing fee to the Guidance Secretary.
- All official transcripts and letters of recommendation must be sent directly to the scholarship committee/organization.
- Students must submit all requests ahead of the scholarship deadline to ensure timely processing of the transcript and letters of recommendation.

Standardized Testing During COVID-19 Pandemic

Many colleges and universities have adopted test-optional policies during the COVID-19 pandemic. In these cases, it is up to the student/applicant whether or not to submit scores on the SAT I, SAT II, or ACT. Because college policies can differ, students should check with individual colleges as to whether and how they will use test scores in their admission processes.

When a student self-reports his/her scores on the Common Application and/or has the testing agency send official scores to colleges, those scores are in full view throughout the admission process. To avoid the unintended presence of test scores in their admissions application files, we recommend strongly that Bishop Fenwick students should follow these guidelines:

- Do not self-report any test scores on your Common Application or any others.
- Do not request that official scores be sent from the College Board or ACT until you have the chance to review your scores and the testing policies at your chosen colleges.
- Submit only those scores that will enhance your application.

GENERAL TESTING INFORMATION

To register for the SAT I and SAT Subject Tests go to www.sat.collegeboard.org

SAT Score Reporting Options:

1. Using Score Choice:

- You select which scores you want sent to the college.
- These scores are sent by test date for the SAT and by individual test for the SAT Subject Tests.

2. Not using Score Choice:

- If you choose not to use Score Choice, all of your scores will be sent to the college.
- This option may also be beneficial to you, since many colleges use the highest score in each section regardless of test date.

To register for the ACT go to www.actstudent.org

ACT Score Reporting:

- ACT does not combine all tests results for multiple tests dates.
- Score reports are sent by specific date only.
- If you want multiple test date results sent to a college, you must request ACT to send each score separately.

Test Optional Information:

- Some schools are test-optional for admission. This means you can choose to send or not send your scores as part of the admission package. Each college sets its own rules regarding test requirements.
- Contact the college for specific details about their test policy.

Photo Identification:

- You are required to upload a photo of yourself when you register for the SAT and ACT tests.
- A Photo ID is required of every student for admission to a test center in order to take the SAT and ACT.
- Please check the College Board and ACT websites for specific requirements.

Financial Aid Information

The two most commonly-used financial aid forms are:

- The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)
- The College Scholarship Service/Financial Aid Profile (CSS Profile)

Families should check with each prospective college about required financial aid forms & submission deadlines.

FAFSA http://www.fafsa.ed.gov/	Frequently Asked Questions	CSS Profile http://student.collegeboard.org/css-financial-aid-profile
All college-bound seniors must complete the FAFSA if they want to be considered for most types of financial aid - including federal and state grants, work-study, and loans.	Who needs to complete it?	Some colleges and scholarship programs require the CSS Profile. Visit the website above and click on "Participating Colleges, Universities, and Scholarship Programs." If a college or scholarship is listed, you must complete the CSS Profile.
Complete the FAFSA online using the website above. OR download and print: www.fafsa.ed.gov/options.htm OR request a paper copy: 800-4-FED-AID	How do we complete it?	Complete the CSS Profile online using the website above.
October 1 st is the first day you can file the FAFSA.	When do we complete it?	October 1 st is the first day you can file the CSS Profile. Check priority filing dates for each college and file at least two weeks before the earliest one.
There is no cost for the FAFSA.	How much does this cost?	Initial application: $25 (includes one college or scholarship program report) Additional reports: $16 each Some families are automatically eligible for fee waivers based on the financial information entered online.
Visit the website ahead of time to get prepared and see a list of documents needed.	How can we make this easier? MEFA is an excellent resource for questions on both forms. Some Things To Avoid

There are a number of items that “some people” tell students to submit as supplements to their college applications, but which truly are not necessary for undergraduate admission. In many cases, they actually can be counterproductive despite using up a significant amount of time and effort.

Here is a list of some of these items, along with some honest comments from college admission counselors (application readers!) as to why students need not concern themselves about them:

Resumes –

“The Common Application allows each college to turn the resume function on or off. It’s off at UVA. UVA does not accept resumes. The application presents information in a systematic format which allows us to zero in on pertinent info quickly. Follow instructions and share your information in a concise way.” (University of Virginia Admission Office)

Outside Recommendations –

“Most colleges allow 1 academic and 1 counselor recommendation. We are looking into your style in the academic environment. People who have never taught you or met you at a special program cannot speak to your learning style, ability to think, or how you work in a classroom/academic environment. Also, those people tend to summarize rather than give specific examples. The required recommendations are perfect! Do not worry about sending extras.” (Bucknell University Admissions Office)

Research Abstracts -

“Tell us about your research – do not send the abstract. Just a line or two at most will do it. If you send a paper and we do not have the time to read it, there is a good chance that the gist will not be clear and it will only take away from your application.” (Cornell University Admission Office)

Writing Portfolios –

“We receive three pieces of polished writing in your Common Application: the long essay and 2 short answer prompts. That is plenty of writing. We will not accept what we do not ask for.” (University of Connecticut Admission Office)

Copies of Certificates/Awards –

“You sign off on the Honor Code when you apply through the Common Application. You’ve listed your awards. We do not need a copy of a certificate. Leave these papers in the baby book or the folder for important stuff. (Dartmouth College Admission Office)

Newspaper Clippings or Photos –

“We are sure you are proud of your accomplishments. It is OK to keep copies for yourself and family – even the adorable picture of you at your first Stonehill alumni weekend with your mom when you were a baby.” (Stonehill College Admission Office)

IN SUMMARY
Regarding the submission of extra materials

Here are some basic, but important pieces of advice from the perspective of college admission offices:

- Follow directions!
- If a college does not ask for it, they do not want it and will not use it in making their decision.
- Colleges accept portfolios and supplemental materials which meet the criteria for the arts or architecture. That is it.
- Once you hit the “submit” button, move on. Please do not continue to send additional material until after a college has let you know whether you are admitted.
